

DEMOCRATS WIN NARROW CONTROL OF CONGRESS; OUTSTANDING LEADERS OF REPUBLICANS WIN ACROSS NATION

G.O.P. Rejoices As Senators Taft and Millikin Win Re-Election, and as Governors Warren and Dewey Also Win Out

By William K. Hutchinson
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The Democratic Party won a dishearteningly narrow control of the new 82nd Congress today as the American people re-elected the Republican Party's outstanding leaders clear across the nation.

The Republicans rejoiced as Senators Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Eugene Millikin of Colorado, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gov. Earl Warren of California won re-election.

Democrats sorrowed as the voters swept the Senate clean of its present Administration leadership. Democratic Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois and Democratic Whip Francis Myers of Pennsylvania were washed out of office along with important Democrat Chairman Millard Tydings of Maryland and Elbert Thomas of Utah.

The Democrats captured the House when they elected 222 members by 5 a. m. (EST), four more than needed to organize the new House which meets Jan. 3rd. All indications pointed to a Democratic majority of between thirty and forty members.

Control of the Senate will be by a hair's-breadth. Latest returns at that hour indicated the Democrats had won the Senate by the margin of a single Senator—48 to 47.

A terrific volume of voters participated in the elections. Estimates ranged from 40,000,000 to 42,000,000, a record-shattering performance in an off-year.

The voters evidenced grave concern over the future. In effect, they rebuked the Truman Administration by slashing its majorities in both House and Senate.

The new Congress must legislate to rearm the nation to meet the world crisis of Communist aggression. In its hands will go such problems as higher tax, rent, price and wage controls, anti-inflation measures and the rearming of Europe and friendly Asia.

In such a crisis, the American people actually placed control of the new Congress in the hands of a coalition of Southern anti-Administration Democrats and Republicans.

The American people evidenced some dissatisfaction with present Democratic leadership by re-electing all outstanding Republican critics and actually sweeping the Senate clean of its present Democratic leadership.

The Republican Party's greatest leaders were re-elected to high office, even if the Democrats control the House and Senate by narrow margins.

Notable GOP victors were Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, "Mr. Republican" himself and his right hand lieutenant, Senator Eugene Millikin, of Colorado.

Others were the GOP Presidential ticket of 1948—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, and Gov. Earl Warren, of California.

The GOP also defeated three outstanding Democratic Senators—the Senate majority leader, Scott Lucas in Illinois, the Democratic whip, Sen. Francis Myers in Pennsylvania, and the Democratic leader of the inquiry into Communist influence in government, Sen. Millard Tydings in Maryland.

On the surface this would indicate a terrific "turn to the right." But the voters were balloting for personal preferences, choosing individuals rather than issues.

The returns thrust three Republicans into the 1952 Presidential limelight. Taft almost becomes a favorite although he curbed all such talk during his campaign.

A newcomer, who may have a hat in the GOP ring, is Gov. Duff of Pennsylvania who defeated Myers. He was a reluctant last minute supporter of Taft in 1948. Another potentiality is Gov. Warren, of California.

Dewey renounced all Presidential ambitions in the midst of his campaign and declared he favored Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the nomination.

The rank and file of Democrats did very well at the polls.

At 2 a. m. (EST), the Democrats appeared certain of at least 49 seats in the Senate while the Republicans seemed to have won 45 seats.

Two seats, one in Utah and one in Idaho, were still undecided at that hour.

In the House race, at 2 a. m. EST, the Democrats had elected 214 and Walter M. Reiff, one of the charter members of the Lambertville (N. J.) Kiwanis Club, which was organized in October, 1922, it is revealed, has not missed any of that club's meetings since its organization.

Mr. Reiff, who is connected with a coal, feed and lumber business, is also the pianist of the Lambertville club. In addition to this, he is the pianist of Doylestown Kiwanis Club, organized in 1924.

Commenting upon his regularity in attendance, Mr. Reiff said "I do not believe I have missed more than 10 or 15 meetings of the Doylestown club since it was organized."

Mr. Reiff, nine years ago, was stricken ill, and for a time was unable to leave his home, but the Lambertville club met the emergency by holding five sessions at his residence.

Mr. Reiff's record makes him one of the oldest Kiwanis club members in the country with an almost perfect attendance.

The United States Steel Corporation is going to make use of "movies" to give to the residents of Lower Bucks County a better understanding of what the proposed steel mill may be like when built between Bristol and Morrisville along the Delaware river.

A color motion picture, "Steel—Man's Servant," soon will be shown in the area through arrangement by the United States Steel Corporation.

The first presentation will be at the Morrisville High School Monday night, November 27. It will be repeated the following Friday night, December 1. There will be further showings for students of the Pennsylvania School District and elsewhere.

Free tickets will be distributed. Tickets are necessary because of the seating limitation in some of the auditoriums and to encourage people to await the showing in their own locality.

After the first Morrisville High School show, the film will be presented twice Tuesday night, November 28 at the Yardley Community Center. The times of the presentations are eight p. m. and nine p. m. At 8.30 p. m., on Wednesday and Thursday nights, November 29 and 30, it will be seen at the Lower Makefield School.

Women's organizations are co-operating in distributing tickets. Mail requests can be addressed by individuals to the steel corporation at Post Office Box 90, Morrisville.

WAS IT INDIAN SUMMER?

The wonderful weather a large part of the nation has recently enjoyed—should it be called Indian summer? It seemed like it, but the term should be saved for use a little later, according to these authorities:

Webster's New International Dictionary: "Indian summer—a period of warm or mild weather late in autumn or in early winter, usually characterized by a clear and cloudless sky and by a hazy or murky appearance of the atmosphere, especially near the horizon. The term is commonly applied to mark a period occurring in October or more commonly in November."

Encyclopedia Britannica: "A season of several weeks duration in the United States characterized by a calm, translucent atmosphere and mellow sunshine, in sharp contrast to climatic conditions which precede and follow it, especially in the northeastern states and the Mississippi Valley . . . Indian summer is preceded by squaw winter, a cold spell when the thermometer first drops below the freezing point."

Encyclopedia Americana: "A period of mild and pleasant weather which generally occurs toward the end of autumn . . . 'Sq' aw winter' was a name for a spell of cold weather preceding the Indian summer."

So one authority says Indian summer comes late in the autumn or early in the winter. Another says it comes toward the end of autumn. The Britannica is not specific on when it comes—it says Indian summer follows a cold spell.

IT'S ABOUT TIME

To the report that the United States is now "talking turkey" to the French on the question of German rearmament the average American's reaction will be that it's about time. Here is a problem which has been discussed for month upon month and which all the military leaders feel should be settled immediately. Yet the French and the French alone are harrering the way to a solution.

By refusing to make any concessions on their own account and demanding that all other concessions be in their favor they are preventing the creation of a military establishment designed to defend them as well as all Western Europe against Soviet aggression.

French fears of Germany, which invaded France three times in less than a century are understandable, but what other course is there to pursue? The alternative is to leave Western Europe defenseless against the only nation which is today harboring designs of aggression.

Although the British also have suffered severely in the past at the hands of the Germans they see no danger to peace in the present rearmament plan. If they are ready to accept it, the French may safely do likewise.

Christmas comes this year on washday, and housewives should rearrange their plans accordingly.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1950
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing, the common man's millionaire, didn't have much to say during the Congressional campaigns, but you can expect to hear more from him with the election campaigns ended.

Ewing expects that we shall live with a "crisis" economy and foreign policy for the next decade. In anticipation of possible atomic attacks, he has planned Civil Defense drills for school children, which will be similar to the present fire drills.

Of course, along with this, he will be back on the firing line with his five billion dollar socialized medicine program, which proved to be something less than sensational as an administration campaign issue. Don't get the idea, however, that because Ewing was silent during the campaign he is any less intent about socializing the doctors and dentists. He made use of the lull to lay out the propaganda campaign for 1951. He had plenty of help.

One member of Congress who is completely sold on socialized medicine is Rep. John D. Dingell (D. Mich.). To prove it, in October of this year he mailed out under his free government frank several hundred copies of a speech in which he castigated the American Medical Association's efforts to ward off Ewing's socialization proposal.

What is interesting about Dingell's mail to his constituents in this particular instance is that he charged the A. M. A. with a "smear campaign." He also suggested that voters start a sort of chain telephone campaign, similar to the chain letter ideas that once were popular for bilking the unwary with phony gold mine schemes. Dingell didn't say whom the voters should call, except one another, regarding the A. M. A. program. But he does see in the A. M. A. rejection of socialized medicine a "new, insidious, political tactic designed to cripple the Democratic Party and the Fair Deal program."

Well, let's look at that. Ewing is a rich man. Dingell isn't exactly poor. But what they are proposing is to persuade doctors and dentists to be content with from $4,000 to $5,000 a year. Dingell gets $12,500 salary, plus a $2,500 non-accountable expense allowance, plus $35,000 for office help, from the taxpayers. Ewing used to charge clients such as Standard Oil and the Aluminum Company of America fees ranging into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Dingell does not apply a $5,000 limit to salaries of his own staff, by a long shot. In the F. S. A., where Ewing is boss, about half the employees are in relatively upper salary brackets, including several hundred aides who are paid from seven to $10,000 a year.

When it was suggested to Ewing that as a lawyer he ought to forego hundred thousand dollar fees and be content with $5,000 a year, he hit the ceiling. That suggestion came from Senator Owen Brewster, Maine Republican. Since that time a Bangor, Maine, daily paper in which Ewing is influential has seldom had a kind word to say about Brewster.

Ewing and Dingell were strictly bitter about the fact that the A. M. A. planned to spend $1,119,000 on newspaper and radio statements explaining why its members did not want to be socialized by Ewing. Dingell called this an attempt to "corrupt the public mind," and said that the A. M. A. maintained an "insidious lobby" in Washington.

For frosting on the cake, Dingell said the A. M. A. tactics are "un-American." Usually in un-American activities you have to dig to find out what is going on. The ordinary procedure is that the proponents of un-American propaganda hide behind fronts.

These they dress up with fancy, patriotic names and stick up a fuzzy-brained liberal as a front man. You have to get down to the secretary level before you can find out what is really going on.

Such is not the case with the A. M. A. This association of doctors, and a counterpart association of dentists, stepped right up and clouted back when Ewing first proposed to socialize their existence. Not only did the A. M. A. tackle the plan specifically and generally, but it belted Ewing personally for even thinking about such silliness. No fronts were employed, nor were influence-users with administration connections. The medics simply hauled back and let fly. They still are doing just that.

A Child's Success At School

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.
MANY a mother with a child from three to five, seeing the older children or other people's children going to school, is thinking about how she may best prepare this child for success at school by the time he is old enough to enter the first grade. So many of these mothers think first about teaching this child the letters of the alphabet or the number symbols. They may even begin to teach the youngster to count large numbers and do sums, even to read and write.

At Early Age
Now the average child can be taught to do these things at so early an age. But, as a rule, he learns them far more slowly than he would learn several years later. And when he does not learn as rapidly as his parent supposes he should, she begins to press him and to make the learning a painful chore. Thus she builds up a dislike of school learning several years before he enters it.

If, however, this child does easily catch on with reading, arithmetic and the like, his parents and relatives incline to over-stimulate and excite him and to brag about him and exploit him among other adults. In this event he becomes conceited and priggish not only toward adults but also toward other children. About the best way to hinder a child from developing as a normal playmate at or before school entrance and to destine him for a lonely life is to train him like a seal in formal book learning, so that he is far ahead of all other children at reading, spelling and number work when he enters school.

Formal Learning
The very interest this child has gained in formal learning ren-

Non-Nervous Child

Work with your physician to build a strong, healthy, non-nervous child. See that he learns good routine habits and sleeps enough. Hold him to the afternoon nap till school interrupts. Encourage him to build with blocks and play creatively with other toys alone and with other children of his age; to color with crayons, even with paints; to cut, paste and draw for fun. Enjoy his creations.

Read and read and read to him from pictured verse and prose. Listen appreciatively to his yarns of make-believe. Also encourage his gradual use of tools for making things for fun.

Set the stage so he will spend some playtime daily with a few other children of his age. A nursery school could be helpful to him. Let's hope he can attend a public kindergarten at four or five. Even the nursery department of the Sunday school affords good help to socialize him.

Be a good companion to him. Answer all his questions kindly. Ask him a few questions to challenge his thinking with what he has already in his little head. Provide him with a happy family atmosphere of serenity, understanding and love. Thus prepare him well to enter the first grade at school.

During the week of the big A. M. A. newspaper and radio campaign there were A. M. A. arguments against socialized medicine flying thick and fast. No hidden ball tricks. Big, simple, full-page newspaper advertisements and frequent radio speeches were laid out for public consumption under A. M. A. sponsorship. It was the A. M. A. way of telling Americans what is going on and what its members thought about it.

Ewing and Dingell have had the same opportunity to express their views. Both have done so. Both will do so again. The only difference is that taxpayers will be footing the bill for dissemination of their arguments.

Newtown Board Does Routine Business

NEWTOWN, Nov. 8.—Newtown school board held its monthly meeting at the home of the secretary, Mrs. William Morlok, Jr., Monday evening.

It was reported five new bells have been installed in the belfry at Newtown school, and a number of sash have been replaced and some repaired. The winter supply of coal has been delivered and a new drinking fountain placed in the kindergarten in Wesley hall of the Methodist church.

On Monday evening, before Halloween, Harry Bennett, janitor, Morrell Weaver, Marvin V. Keller and Norman W. Kratz, principal, were in attendance at Newtown school to protect the building from vandalism.

The teachers of Newtown school attended the Teachers Institute at Morrisville and a study of the textbooks in the districts of the Council Rock area, made, with a view to eventually having the background of all students the same, upon entrance into Junior high school. Also a display of elementary library books from associated library service was considered and a good choice of books made for use in Newtown library.

Professor Kratz reported on the plan of the parent-teacher association to discontinue their regular meetings each month until March and in the interim to have four grades considered each month, the Bill and Lillian Smith had wanted their own home for years. Then Lillian found it.

But how did fire insurance help them buy it?
Without fire insurance on the house Bill couldn't have borrowed the money to buy it.
But even before the house was a blueprint, fire insurance helped make possible the entire development. Without its protection the builder could not have financed his own operations.
That's how fire insurance helps you acquire a home with conveniences that are possible today only in a country where business freedom is constantly making America a better place to live in.
Your fire insurance rate per $100 protection is as much as 30% lower today than it was 30 years ago. Write for booklet giving the facts and telling other advantages of stock company fire insurance.

R. S. McEwen, Bell Telephone man of Washington, Pa., in local food store.

His Purchases Help Pennsylvania

Like other Bell Telephone men and women in Pennsylvania, "Mac" McEwen is a good customer of local business establishments of many types: food stores, clothing stores, drugstores, service stations.

In fact, it would be hard to find a Pennsylvania business that does not benefit from the purchases of Bell Telephone people, who now earn more than $100 million yearly within the state.

Thus the money you spend in payment of telephone bills does more than buy good telephone service. It assures good wages for telephone people, which in turn helps assure work and wages for great numbers of Pennsylvanians in other lines of business.

DiAngelo Named To Coaching Position

cheaper milk, and that the board consider hiring Mrs. Crosby to help in the cafeteria. The board voted that Mr. Snyder and Mr. Hertzler make any changes that they feel are needed.

John Dougherty, president of the board, stated that he had received a letter from a taxpayer complaining about the solicitation of funds to be contributed to charity. The writer, Dougherty stated, claimed that this practice had a bad effect on the children. The board discussed this problem at great length and decided that there be no soliciting of funds for charity in any of the schools. The board instructed Mr. Snyder to answer the letter from the taxpayer.

George Perkins, chairman of the committee to investigate the athletic problem, reported the Athletic Council held a meeting and discussed the coaching problems and recommended that Anthony DiAngelo be given the job of coaching the junior varsity basketball team and the intramural basketball program, to be started at or near the end of basketball season.

The board discussed the athletic problem at great length and decided to hire DiAngelo to coach the junior varsity team along with the intramural program.

The public address system for the football field and gym has been ordered, Perkins reported. Also that Mignoni recommended to the council that requisitions and the budget be presented to the board May 1st, instead of September 1st each year. The council also expressed the desire for an active intramural program. It was agreed that soccer would be a desirable game with one team from ninth, 10th and 11th grades.

Friday's game will be "Mom" and "Pop's" night, Perkins reported. He also stated that four varsity meets in wrestling were approved by the council.

The possibility of Bristol entering the Bucks-Montgomery League was brought up by Mr. Perkins. He stated that he felt that to enter this league would be more in the class of Bristol, and that it would be good for the sports department of the school. Mr. Snyder stated that the board before deciding on this move should remember that if the school enters this league, it would mean that the teams would have to travel further than they now do for games and that basketball, baseball and football teams would all be in that league. The school is now in the Lower Bucks County League.

Cub Advancements for Pack 2 Are In Order

Discussion of the entering, if possible, of the Bucks-Montgomery League was held and the following committee to investigate the move was appointed: George Perkins, chairman; Carmon Mignoni, Warren P. Snyder, and David Hertzler.

Mr. Snyder, superintendent of schools, reported he had attended several meetings this past month and a detailed report would be given to the board members. Irene Flood requested a leave of absence. The board approved.

David L. Hertzler, principal of the high school, reported that the old piano on the floor of the auditorium should be eliminated, as it has not been used in an activity for several years and is now taking up needed space for chair storage. The board approved.

Mr. Hornberger and Mr. Ryglewicz were given permission to attend the music directors conference at Harrisburg in December.

Teachers are arranging for the seniors of the "Problems of Democracy" class to spend a day at the United Nations and the tenth grade Latin pupils to visit the New York Metropolitan Museum. Mr. Hertzler reported.

Open house night is scheduled for November 14th. The school will be open and an invitation is extended to the parents to meet their children's teachers during that evening.

The board gave permission to the P. T. A. to use the ovens in the school for their bake sale.

Walks Into Side of a Car; Sustains Bruises

PARKLAND, Nov. 8 — When Kermit Patent, Langhorne R. D. 3, is said to have walked into the side of a motor vehicle here last evening at 6:45, he escaped with bruises.

According to state police, Langhorne barracks, Patent had descended from a bus at the intersection of Lincoln highway and Halmerville road, and started across the highway when he apparently walked into the side of a car driven by Gerald Minchin, Jr., Trenton, N. J., travelling east. Patent was thrown to the side of the highway.

NAUGHTY NINE

LONDON — (INS) — Naughty children are the nine-year-olds, Sir Harold Scott, London's Commissioner of Police, said at a "Save the Children" conference: "Those a year older are bad, too, but nine is the naughtiest age."

To Show Film of New Steel Plant

corporation as a full-color story of steel from the time the ore leaves the ground until the finished product leaves the mill.

"Much of the film," a statement said, "was made in integrated steel mills of corporation subsidiaries, which are similar to the type of operation projected for the Delaware River site in Bucks County."

When the steel mill is built south of Morrisville, it will be an operating unit of the United States Steel Company, not the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation.

The 3,800-acre tract for the plant has been acquired in the name of Carnegie-Illinois. But the parent corporation, the United States Steel Corporation, announced today a new company was being created.

The new company will unite Carnegie-Illinois, the United States Steel Corporation of Delaware, H. C. Frick Coke Company and the United States Steel and Coke Company.

Irving S. Olds, parent corporation board chairman, announced the merger would simplify the corporate structure. Headquarters of the new company will be in the corporation's new office building at Pittsburgh.

Benjamin F. Fairless, parent corporation president, will be president of the new company.

There will be five executive vice-presidents: Clifford F. Hood, operations, now president of Carnegie-Illinois; David F. Austin, commercial; Roger M. Blough, law and secretary; Malcolm W. Reed, engineering; and George W. Rooney, accounting.

The group, Olds said, would become an executive committee for the new company together with Fairless as chairman. Hood will be vice-chairman.

Olds' statement added: "After January 1, 1951, the present sales office of Carnegie-Illinois will be conducted in the name of United States Steel Company. There will be no change in the present customer relationships of Carnegie-Illinois. The new program does not affect the other subsidiaries of the corporation, which will continue in business as in the past."

The United States Steel Corporation has announced no specific plans for the new mill, other than to indicate construction may start next spring.

The latest of the personnel to settle here is Clifford Deck, an engineer of Carnegie-Illinois, who has a home outside Newtown. He is disposing of early technical inquiries.

BRAKE SAFETY

DAYTON, O. — (INS) — The Air Force is trying out a few tricky maneuvers which usually are the motorist's last recollection on this earth. For one thing, the nation's air arm has found that slamming on the brakes at 100 miles per hour is just about as effective as forgetting about the brakes in the first place. Using a clipped wing B-26 bomber, the Air Force found that applying brakes at 100 miles per hour meant that the plane simply coasted along on the melted rubber of the tires.
